

Prime Dean Candidate 'Withdraws'

By JULIE SALEM

UNO President Kirk Naylor revealed Tuesday the prime candidate of the Dean of Engineering and Technology Search Committee has withdrawn from competition.

Dr. Herbert Warren of the Montana College of Mineral Science and Technology was in Lincoln last week-end to meet with the Board of Regents and University Chancellor Durwood Varner.

Naylor said he was informed of the withdrawal Sunday evening. He further stated the decision to withdraw was Warren's own choice.

University Chancellor Varner confirmed the candidate's withdrawal of application for deanship.

A Department Head

Warren was head of the Department of Petroleum Engineering at Montana College in Butte.

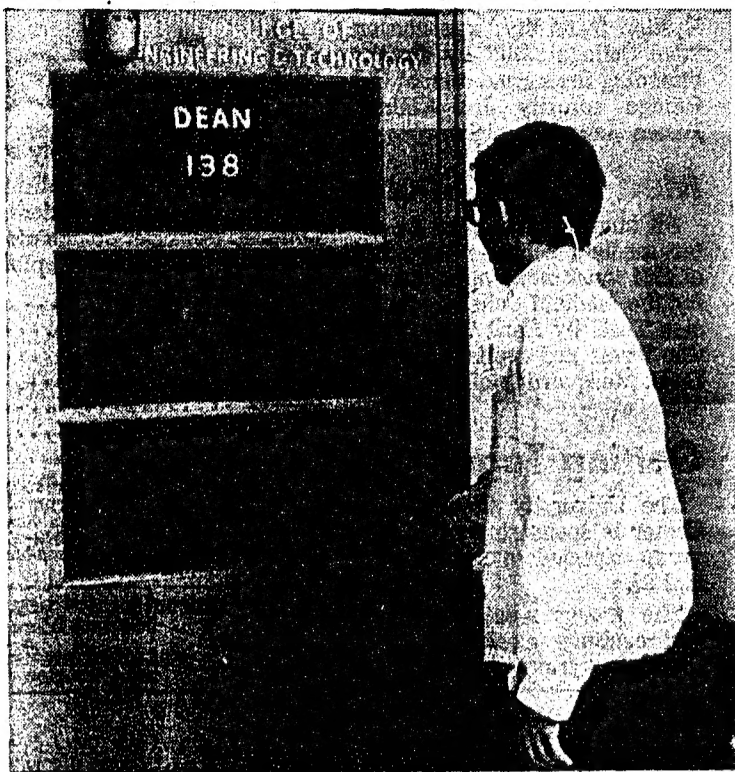

UNO offers a Bachelor of Science degree in civil, industrial and general engineering.

Varner added that steps in improving communication between the Board of Regents and the UNO campus should be initiated. Varner indicated there must be a lack of communication in the university system.

He said it will be "very important for the Regents to meet with a candidate for deanship before selection gets too far along the line."

Varner added, "We need to be closer together." He feels that a communications increment is one of the duties of a chancellor.

Varner stated, "The University Board of Regents spelled out the position of the UNO

Office still vacant.

College of Engineering in its proposal last year."

According to the plan approved by the Regents last spring, the UNO Engineering College will be based upon a civil engineering program with a master degree offered, a 2-year engineering technology program with an eventual 4-year degree in engineering technology, co-operation with the University of Nebraska at Lincoln in other terminal degrees, and development of continuing educational trends in the field.

Varner stated that the role of the Engineering College can work in conjunction with the entire university role. He feels the college can draw on the technological community of the urban Omaha area.

A search committee meeting was held Wednesday evening to outline a profile of the types of candidates for which the search committee will continue to look.

The search committee has the power to recommend candidates to the president. It is composed of four members of the engineering faculty. They are Drs. James Brown, C. H. Pruitt, James Hossack and Edward Kinney.

Two students from each department in the college have been invited to attend the evaluation session for each candidate.

The new dean position is scheduled to be filled by July 1 of this year.

Regents Approve 'Urbanizing' UNO

The Board of Regents Monday approved University Chancellor Durwood Varner's recommendation that a commission be established "to explore all the possibilities which exist at the Omaha campus, for developing a program in urban education which could serve as a national model."

The commission is to include 30 representatives from Omaha, and 15 representatives from other areas of the state, UNO faculty, and students and five or six national consultants.

Members of the Unicameral will be invited to work with the group.

Recommendations for a program "which will make it possible for this urban University to make its maximum contribution to the people it serves" are expected to be ready for presentation to the Regents by Dec. 1 of this year.

Varner stressed UNO's "unique opportunities for creating a new look in urban education in America because the University is located in a metropolitan area where problems still are of manageable size."

"Since my arrival in Nebraska, I have been impressed with the enormous potential which UNO has for continuing to serve the needs of that urban community," he stated.

The Chancellor concluded: "I would hope that members of the Legislature would be willing to work with the commission in thinking through the potential which exists, certainly they will be invited."

University President Kirk Naylor said, "The Commission offers exciting new possibilities for opening a new era for the University."

The commission recommendation came during a Regents meeting on the Lincoln campus.

Periodicals Soon?

In action taken March 11, the University Senate has taken under consideration a Council on Student Affairs recommendation for the sale of periodical literature in the University Bookstore.

The Council's recommendation stipulates:

1. Space shall be provided in the University Bookstore for the sale of nationally and locally circulated magazines and newspapers, with either a copy-right or a circulation of more than 5000 per issue.
2. The Student Center Director shall provide space and a permanent table in a reasonably trafficked area of the building for the sale or distribution of periodical literature which might be excluded from sale in the Bookstore.

3. Any periodicals offered for sale or distribution on campus must not conflict with any state or federal statute governing the public dissemination of printed matter.

4. The manager of the Bookstore, or his delegated representative, shall become a "without vote" member of the Student Publications Committee.

Committee Still Accepting Achievement Nominations

The deadline is drawing near for the submittal of nominations for UNO Achievement Awards.

By April 10 all nominations must be in the hands of the seven-member Award Selection Committee which operates out of the Student Office, MBSC 301.

No more than three students will be chosen for the awards.

Administrators, faculty, staff, students, and student organizations are all eligible to nominate students for the honor.

Resumes about the nominated student's activities on and off campus which have contributed toward the welfare of the University should be forwarded with the nominations.

The purpose of the award, which is in its second year, is to honor students who have advanced the good name and reputation of the University and in the community as a whole.

Last year approximately 50 students were nominated for the award as present Student Senator Jerry Hall chaired the selection committee.

Chairman of the selection committee this year is Senate Secretary Jackie Hammer.

Also on the committee are students Colleen Murphy, Marianne Beck, Michael Casmon, and one other student yet to be named.

Selection Secret

Also yet to be appointed is a non-voting faculty member.

Final selection of the actual award recipients is by secret committee member balloting with the winners not really known by anyone other than the committee chairman until the official announcement at a May Award Banquet in the Student Center.

All nominees are invited to the banquet at which last year's winners, 1969 graduates Rudy Smith and Craig Reisser, and Randy Owens, June graduate, will be invited.

Spock to Lecture

Dr. Benjamin Spock, noted baby specialist and vocal Vietnam War critic, is being brought to Omaha April 10 to speak to UNO students by the Student Programming Organization.

The well-known author of Baby and Child Care will be appearing at the City Auditorium Music Hall at 8 p.m. for one lecture only.

Students are invited free-of-charge, one activity card per person with the public being admitted at $1.50 per person.

In January of 1968, Spock was charged along with four other men of conspiring to counsel young men to evade the draft. Found guilty initially, they appealed the decision which then went before the U.S. Court of Appeals for the First Circuit.

Dr. Spock

The appeals court reversed the earlier decision on July 11, 1969 for Spock and one other defendant; new trials were ordered for the others.

In 1962 the famed baby doctor joined the National Committee for a Sane Nuclear Policy and was co-chairman of the group until October, 1967.

Spock then joined the National Conference for New Politics as its co-chairman and began making frequent trips to speak about freedom and peace for NCNP and other organizations.

The SPO-sponsored appearance is being done by Spock in behalf of the Civil Liberties Legal Defense Fund, Inc., an organization which provides funds for legal defense in selective service, military and other cases through the country.

Petitions Available

Petitions are available today for candidacy in the 1969-70 Student Senate elections in the Student Senate office, MBSC 301.

The only requirement is that all signees must be currently enrolled at the University.

The petitions must be submitted no later than 4:45 p.m. Friday, April 18 to the Senate office.

The election will be held in the Student Center April 29 and 30.

Editorials

That X-tra Vote

Now that the fever, though not as high-strung as the Gateway had hoped, has subsided from another UNO campus political fray, it seems appropriate to reflect upon an issue thrown into the election almost at the last minute.

Very, very late in the game (in other words, before anyone was realizing it), it was announced a new constitution for student government would be voted upon by the student body at the same time as the election of the new Senate leadership.

On the one hand, the student body was able to witness incumbent Steve Wild (and we cannot "say" here if he was re-elected or not because the Gateway did not know in time for press coverage) push a "yes" vote for a constitution which was only one week earlier approved by the Senate at large—and only after considerable debate.

It seemed as though the mere presence of the constitution question was to illustrate (and illustrate very conveniently) what may be termed an accomplishment of the Wild administration.

The Honore (and Richardson may have joined in this, too, but not as strongly) forces quickly took opposition to the new constitution, in fact, took opposition to University government as it presently exists and moved for a unitary government system, i.e., a one-body government instead of the two large ones the University now has (Student and University Senates).

The Gateway feels the new constitution is more workable than the present one, and action must be taken to decide student government representation figures soon before time runs out on spring Senate elections.

However, in another interesting development in what is turning out to be the most political of all political student government years at this University, Wild-Zadina threw support for a unitary form of government into a full-page ad in last Wednesday's Gateway.

So, it appears we may be moving in that direction after all. Students on the campus need time to absorb student government as an effective operation; the rapidity with which the constitution consideration took place was uncalled for.

Student government leaders, whenever they may be today, must allow the student body to become more a part of the Senate's development, not just a segment to approach at election time.

Talk Test

A total of $80 in cash awards and gift certificates will be presented during an annual contest sponsored by the University Department of Speech.

All undergraduate students are eligible to enter the contest, from 10 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Saturday, April 18, in the Student Center.

Radio KOIL has donated $50 cash, and gift certificates have been provided by Student Activities.

Judges representing the faculty will select first and second-place winners in persuasive speaking and oral interpretation. Students will choose their own topics.

Yearbook Sale

Unclaimed OU/UNO Tomahawk yearbooks are on sale this week in the MBSC Bookstore.

The books, now in storage, are on sale to any and all students, faculty, staff, organizations and offices through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

1967 issues will be sold for 35c, 1968 issues for 75c and 1969 issues for $1.50.

Films Set

"Expressionist Painters" is the theme of a film program to be presented April 8, at 2:30 p.m. in Room 389 of the Administration Building.

The free, hour-long program will be sponsored by the UNO Art Club.

Three films produced by the American Federation of Artists will be shown. They are: "The Expressionist Revolt," "Edward Munch: Paintings," and "Francis Bacon: Paintings, 1944-1962," illustrating works by the famous artist and showing the "human predicament in violence and in grandeur."

Around Campus

Effort Continues

Plans for an April 15 Vietnam War Moratorium observance will be the topic of discussion today at a Current Affairs Association meeting at 11 a.m. in MBSC 315.

A First Floor MBSC table has also been set up to recruit people to help in the April 15 preparations.

Chandler Real Joe

Robbie Chandler, Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity, was chosen "Joe College 1970" by Greeks attending the second annual Chi Omega sorority Joe College Dance Saturday night.

Med Exams Soon

All students who plan to enter medical school in the fall of 1971 must make appointment for the Medical College Admission Tests by April 7. Application forms are available in Dr. D. N. Marquardt's office, Adm. 435.

Getting Together

The University Counseling Center is sponsoring encounter group experiences April 16, 18, and 22.

The groups meet at 9 a.m. and continue as long as the particular group desires. The encounter group experience is designed to promote personal growth through understanding of self and of others.

Those interested in participating should contact Joe Davis in Adm. 213 or at ext. 508.

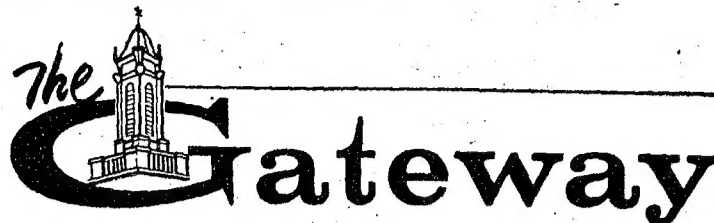

Leaders Planning

Students planning the April 17-18 Student-Faculty Leadership Retreat at Camp Esther Newman are meeting April 2 in Eng. 116. All interested students are invited to attend.

A Final Chance

Today is the final day for the submittal of team applications for the Spring College Bowl. Forms are available in MBSC 234.

One look says a lot. One drive says it all.

New Camaro.

We didn't make it for just anybody. We did make it for people who like sleek new shapes. Long hoods. And fast fastbacks.

We made it for people who like to drive on a road. Not just ride on it. That's why Camaro has an improved road-hugging front and rear suspension.

Camaro is made for people who like to choose their power. Four transmissions are available. And six engines, up to the Turbo-Jet 396 V8 with the SS version.

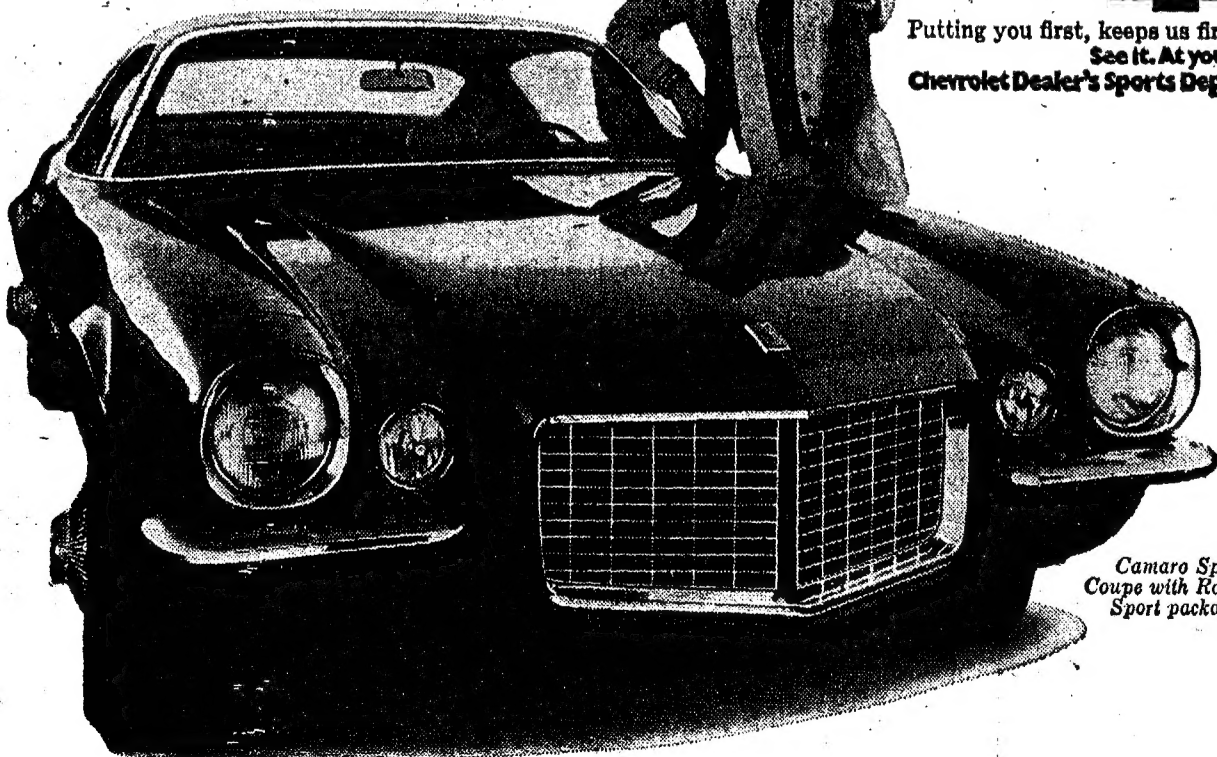

It's for people who aren't necessarily fond of large crowds. There are two buckets up front, two bucket cushions in back. And longer doors that make them easier to get to.

We made the new Camaro for people who like the stopping power of front disc brakes. And protection of side-guard door beams. It takes a certain kind of person to drive a car like this. Because it says a lot about the way he thinks.

What do you think?

Putting you first, keeps us first. See it. At your Chevrolet Dealer's Sports Dept.

Brown Baggin' It

By RICHARD D. BROWN

Much has been said about the summer months. The lazy, hazy, crazy days of June, July and August find many students on the payrolls—especially UNO students.

Up to 80 per cent of UNO's students are employed in some type of work during the summer months according to University Placement Director Mrs. Yvonne Harsh.

However, positions are becoming "less available" for this summer's job seekers, according to Harsh. This is especially true for students who are seeking strictly summer employment.

The Placement Director is quick to stress the best way for a student to insure himself of summer employment is to begin work now on a part-time basis, switch to a full-time payroll status in June and perhaps even continue with the firm on a part-time basis in September.

Job openings strictly for the summer months are becoming extremely scarce with Omaha's several lawn services and Parks and Recreation Department offering the best bets, perhaps the only bets.

One of the lesser-known opportunities, especially if student response is measured, is the College Work-Study Program. Under this federally subsidized program, UNO students registered for the fall semester can acquire employment either on campus or off campus and receive regular pay.

According to Harsh, many of the off-campus jobs offered under this program are with the Omaha Parks and Recreation Dept. in the maintenance and recreational aids categories. However, to be able to qualify for the program, a student and his family must be currently in a low income status as determined by federal guidelines.

Because many students of freshmen and sophomore standing are usually unskilled, Harsh lists retail sales and cafeteria jobs as being good possibilities along with hospitals which hire nurses aids and dieticians from the college-age crowd.

Juniors and seniors can often be placed in jobs in their area of specialization and drafting, accounting and secretarial services are just a few examples. Students majoring in such areas as education, sociology and psychology frequently can be placed in jobs in their area of interest.

Although Harsh admits its not "the first choice of students," door-to-door solicitation jobs are always plentiful but she warns students not to be misled by company testimonials on high earnings. "Most of these jobs are on a commission basis," she noted.

Students desiring work for the summer months should visit the Placement Office, Adm. 238, anytime after spring vacation.

Bookstore Investigation Continuing

The first meeting held in connection with the investigations into the financial operations of the University Bookstore last week was an apparent success.

Mike Nolan, chairman of the Student Senate Investigating Committee, feels the University administration is now aware the Bookstore "is not operated reasonably," largely due to the Ad Hoc report on student grievances.

Nolan says the investigating group would like to know "where the (Bookstore) money goes," and adds, "Obviously... the Bookstore operates at a profit."

"A (Bookstore) cost breakdown for the last four years," seems to be the major concern of the investigators at present.

Harold D. Keefover, university fiscal officer, and Ben

Koenig, the manager of the Bookstore, were both on hand for the initial meeting. Nolan says the two men appear to have "a pretty reasonable" attitude toward the investigations.

HS Journalists Confer

Several hundred high school journalism students from the Omaha area are expected to attend a High School Journalism Conference April 15 in the Eppley Conference Center at the University.

A highlight of the event, from 3 to 5 p.m., will be presentation of certificates to outstanding staff members of high school publications. The students will compete in ten divisions, and April 1 is the deadline for submitting entries to the Department of Journalism.

Areas of competition are best news story, best sports story, best editorial, best column, best feature story, best front page, best interview, best news photograph, best sports photograph and best sports page.

Five journalism faculty members will judge the contest entries.

The conference program will include a panel discussion by recent UNO journalism graduates who are working in Omaha.

Conference chairman is Dr. Hugh P. Cowdin, associate professor and head of the Department of Journalism.

Coed Bowling Set for April

Women's P.E. instructor Connie Claussen reports that the coed bowling tournament will be held April 17, at the West Lanes, across from the Crossroads.

The meet starts at 9:00 p.m. To cover the cost of the bowling, couples entering must pay a fee of approximately $3.10, and at least one of the team members must have an I.D. card.

The tournament will be a handicap tourney, with trophies going to the first and second place couples. And also as a first, Miss Claussen said that trophies will be awarded to the lady and man who roll the highest scratch series.

Chairman for the meet is freshman Cherry Caito. Those planning on entering should sign up in the Women's P.E. office in the Quonset huts.

Time to Shout

Cheerleading tryout are this afternoon at 4 in the West Quonset. Eligible squad hopefuls must have attended at least two earlier tryout sessions.

Five .300 Hitters Return

Baseball Key: Lineup 'Punch'

The UNO baseball squad opens its season today with a doubleheader against Bethany Nazarene College at Oklahoma City, Okla.

The 1970 team will return 10 lettermen in key positions from last year's squad that finished 18-10. The Indians figure to be strong up the middle with key personnel back at catcher, pitcher, second, short, and center field.

Heading the list of returnees is All-District catcher Jim Opitz (.333), the team's leading hitter and RBI producer (21). Also back is shortstop John Dappen (.302), second baseman Steve Kerns (.297) and centerfielder Dick Davis (.247). Thus five of the top seven Indian hitters of a year ago are back.

The mound staff lost 11 victories through graduation but return sophomore righthander Dave Kaster (3-3), team strike-out king with 66 in 54 innings and a 2.48 ERA. Also back are righthanders Denny Johnston (2-2), and Steve Sergeant (2-1). Both had ERA's under 3.00.

The Indians face another vigorous schedule this season with 33 games on tap including Missouri of the Big Eight, Trinity (Tex.) winners of the Southland Conference, Drake and Wichita State of the Missouri Valley Conference, and the always tough Plains Division of the RMC.

New Head Coach Carl Meyers, in his first year at the helm of the baseballers, said that "additional punch in the line-up and an improved defense, hold the key to our fortunes this year."

Voc Services Are Available

Many services are available to students at the University of Nebraska at Omaha—if the students knew about the services.

Students who don't know what they want from college can visit the Counseling Center. Personnel in the center are qualified to give students tests which can be of aid in vocational decision making.

The services of the center are free to any student of the university.

Tests which the center has can show students the type of job they are best suited for. Other tests are in areas of interest, achievement, general and academic aptitude, and personal characteristics.

The student takes the tests at his convenience. There is no limit to the number of tests which a student may or may not take. When the tests are completed and scored the student meets with the counselor, who will interpret and discuss the results of the tests with the student.

The center is located in Room 213 of the administration building.
